operation. The purpose of stirring is to prevent matting. Care should be taken that no particle of core be allowed to fall to the bottom exposed to excessive heat. If a fall is burned, as in every small piece of stirred core will spoil a whole vat. Stirring is necessary in order that the particles be stirred to not heat too fast, as rapid heating requires rapid stirring. After the steam is shut off stir for five or ten minutes to secure a uniformity throughout the whole mass. A good way by which to discover when the steam is shut off is to compress a quantity of the material. If sufficient steam will be found to compress the material, it will be found we have attained a certain degree of solidity, and whenever the pressure is released the particles will resume their former shape and size. When this condition is reached it will be time to draw the performance of the alternative curing method. The results of this arrangement that the cure may be made warmer in the winter than in the summer is allowed to become cold, and extracts, and thus the whey is preserved in a running off, a condition of things favorable to consequences. We know of no way whereby that firmness of texture, and at the same time soft flexibility, can be obtained by matting. Without matting, as above described, and not well matured, cheese is soft and porous; let acid be added, and they will be mealy, hard and crumbly, and lack that nutty, buttery quality which characterizes the sweet whey cured process. It is desirable that the curd be cut into small pieces of equal size, without bruising and without starting to whey.

So far, if we have done right, we have made our curd warm, and in order that kept so our sink should be supplied with water. The water should be changed at intervals of one or two inches longer and wider than that of the sink or vat. Along the color of the vat, the water should be changed, at intervals of about eight or ten inches, are wooden bars of the size of the vat, fastened with iron bolts, at convenient distances. The vat should not find words strong enough to improve the minds of cheese-makers the importance of keeping their curd warm during curdling. I have seen so many cheese-makers curdling by drafts of cold strong open air, that I am sometimes tempted to say, as of burnt milk, to the curd which is to be hot iron, there is no danger of the curd becoming cold. At the moment this odor changes to nitrous, the curd should be changed to cheese, then apply the salt. The account allows to remain in the vat, and will allow the curd to mature. The vat will have the curd of matured curd to proceed to dry. The work of drying done, and our material is whole.

When we have only to wait for the condition we have described, then we may apply the salt, and, when curing, forty days; rennet, for example, for four days (one per cent.; use $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. to 3 pounds salt (24 hours); the temperature of the curing room is cool). In the manufacture of cheese salt performs a hardly less important function than rennet, a fact which must have been lost sight of by buyers of cheese makers during the past year, in various parts of the country. The fact that cheese buyers have found thousands of cheese badly injured from the cause than the want of salt. To save the cheese from being spoiled through decay and permeation of the water after the stirring of the whole to stand, it becomes mellow. It can then be pressed. Again, do not overlook the importance of turning your cheese the next morning after they are put to press. Ex-

them in order that you may correct defect in form produced by the incorrect working of the press. Never use in the curing room objectionable forms, and never use the form. Let this be as an iron rule.

Shipping, especially to England, it occurs that ten, fifteen, or perhaps twenty cheeses are piled one upon another in a way a single cheese is made to sustain a great weight. To provide against this they should be so boxed, in substantial boxes, that the surface of the cheese on the upper edge of the box need be under no strain or pressure. In this way the burden is divided and the cheese and the box are made to sustain its share.

Branding is a part of the cheesemaker's duty, we wish to remind him, and as in all other parts of his work, pains should be taken, and he should see to it in writing weights, and stenciling marking the work to be done in a most manlike manner. The thoughtless course of this man has so far been to have supported ourselves engaged in the manufacture of cheese for the English market, and have kept constantly in the way of a texture, flavor, and general appearance required by that market. The business of making cheese no one is more deeply interested than the patronesses with him much depends upon his own success. He should be thoroughly alive to the necessity of producing his remarkable factory in as perfect a condition as possible, never for a moment allowing selfishness and greed to warp his understanding, or his ignorance and slothfulness to keep him in the way of progress and generosity. It is now time to draw our few remarks to a close. If the cheesemaker be actuated by the most noble motives in any of the world's industry, he will forgive tion at the commencement of the day, and renew that resolution on the ending of every day, to neglect no single duty in the whole routine of his duties. In order to do this he should study chemistry as a science. He should know the nature of the materials used in the manufacture, the laws governing the process, the weight he presides, and the character of the result he desires to effect; and knowing this he will be prepared to perform the operations we have described, skilfully and with success. A more scientific knowledge, which tends to enlighten what the eye sees and the hand executes, will never succeed.

SCROFULA

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a remedy for Scrofula or Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength and vigor to the system, and produces a more permanent result than any medicine I ever used. E. Leaine, No. Lincoln, O.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, from its effects, that it is taken as a preventive, will thoroughly eradicate this disease. W. F. Fowler, M. D., Greenfield, Mass.

For the cure of I have benefited severely. I have tried all sorts of remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking ten bottles of this medicine and completely cured.

Dominion Parliament.

Sixth Parliament—First Session.

Monday, June 6.

A pleasant departure from the ordinary routine was the passage of the address to her Majesty, congratulating her upon the accomplishment of the jubilee of her reign.

Mr. Laurier, in moving the address, delivered a most timely speech, the power of which was an apology for not saying more.

Mr. Laurier, the second of the motion, followed with a beautifully worded eulogy of the Queen and the Victorian era.

Though a Frenchman, Mr. Laurier speaks an extraordinary pure English, and with the very slightest indication of the French accent.

The address was going through unanimously, when the pugnacious yet loyal Col. Amoy rose and objected strongly to a sentence in the document, from which he drew the inference that it was intended to inform Her Majesty that Canada had been won from the French by the English.

Col. Amoy takes the view that the French were not conquered in Canada, and that Canada was not won from the French.

The country was merely ceded by France to England. Those who have read the history of the event may have supposed that there was some slight fighting over the possession of Canada, and that one of the parties to the struggle was victorious, but this is not Col. Amoy's notion of the occurrence.

"What shall I do for this distressing Cough?" Try Hennessey's "Feetball Balm," it is soothing and healing to the throat, and it is the most efficacious that renders breathing difficult or painful.

Sent to Gaol.

The Magistrate would rather Place Him in a Reformatory.

Jas. Langley, the boy who was convicted of larceny, having been caught at two offences on the same day, was sentenced to three months in the county gaol this morning.

The Magistrate in passing sentence said that he regretted that the statutes did not allow of his being sent to the reformatory, where he would be learned a trade and have less hardened comrades to associate with than in gaol.

The Dominion states, chap. 177, sec. 3, reads: "Every person charged with having committed or having attempted to commit any offence which is simple larceny or punishable as simple larceny, and whose age at the period of commission, or attempted commission of such offence, does not, in the opinion of the justice before whom he is brought or appears, exceed the age of 16 years, shall, upon conviction thereof, in open court, upon his own confession, or upon proof, before any two or more justices, be committed to the common gaol or other place of confinement within the jurisdiction of such justice, to be imprisoned, with or without hard labor, for any term not exceeding three months, or in the discretion of such justice, shall forfeit and pay such sum, not exceeding $50, as such justice adjudges."

It is upon laws of such age as Langley that the influence of a few years' training in a Reformatory would have most effect. The law no doubt means well, but it places boys where they are harmed instead of benefited.

A Simple Drunk.

Chas. Smith, who gave the name of Jas. Jackson when arrested, pleaded hard and eloquently for liberty and leave to quit the city. Smith had a quantity of small pieces of soap with him, and a supply of tin foil. The soap, he said, was for washing stains from clothing. A drug clerk said it was common ammonia soap which the prisoner had been imposing on the public. He thought he could get out of town in about five minutes and was given a chance to go.

He resented for his straw hat as he nodded toward the bench and ejaculated "thank you" and in a moment was making good time for the corporation limits.

Housebreaking.

An attempt was made to enter the house of Rev. R. Robinson, near the Marchmont Home, on Sunday night. In breaking the window a stick that was used to beat the door down was knocked to the floor. The clatter made by the falling stick roused the family, where the men decamped.

On Saturday night between 11 and 12 o'clock three rough looking men were seen on the upper bridge with a quantity of bread and canned fruit making a meal.

His First Sermon.

Although Bridge street church was dedicated on May 12th, the pastor only preached his first sermon in the new building yesterday morning. There was a large congregation. He gave a solemn sermon, bearing upon man's forgetfulness of God's mercies and his sinfulness to remember the life of Christ. At the close he made reference to the destruction of the old place of worship, the speedy rebuilding of the new and the prosperous financial condition of the society.

TAMARAC.

Do not think you are a fool and go to bed, and do it quick, use Tamarac Balm. It is the best of the world, and gives immediate relief.

Camping Out.

A party of seven Italians camped over Sunday on a vacant lot on the brow of the hill near Alexander street. They arrived on the train from the east in the morning and were on their way to Campbellford, where they expected work on the railway. They had no money, but different parties supplied them bread and milk. Trains on the Grand Junction do not run on Sunday.

Address to the Queen.

The address to the Queen drafted by a special committee of the Council has been beautifully illuminated by a Toronto engraver. This morning it was sent with the city seal, signed by His Worship Mayor Biggar and the City Clerk, B. V. Robert, son, Esq., and mailed to its destination.

A Violent Dog.

H. Bonar complained to the police this morning that he was bitten on the thigh by a vicious dog known to the police as "Morgan." As, according to the by-law, the dog had not been registered, it can be destroyed by the police.

Crop Prospects.

Highly favorable reports have reached us as to the condition of the crops in the northern townships. In some localities the hay crop is expected to be three times as large as it was last year.

OUR MILITIA FORCE.

Suggestions Which Will Likely Lead to Alterations in the Service.

Sir Frederick Middleton, Major-General commanding the Canadian militia, in his report to the Minister of Militia and Defence, made suggestions as to the manner of drill and equipment of the force, which will, without doubt, have considerable weight with the department and may lead to important changes.

He says in referring to the Kingston and Niagara camps of last year:

Having only these two camps to see I was able to make the working of them, and having first recorded my astonishment at what these nearly all untrained men are able to do with such hurried and short instructions, I must place on record my deliberate opinion that looking at it as a means of forming a force that might be able to take the field, this system of bringing the rural regiments together for so short a time (only 12 days every other year) is nearly if not altogether useless.

The most important part of a soldier's work, that of shooting correctly, is necessarily imperfectly and so hurriedly carried out as to be nearly useless, except that it compels a man to discharge his rifle a certain number of times, for I am perfectly confident from what I saw in these two camps that many of the men had never before pulled a trigger. Then I found that in accordance with paragraph 415, Regulations and Orders, 1883, men who missed all 5 rounds at 200 yards were moved back to the next distance, where they again failed to hit the target, and then moved back to 500 yards, naturally again missing at a greater distance. This is not only a waste of ammunition but tends to dishearten the men and disgust them with shooting altogether. I put a stop to these proceedings at these camps, being able to do so, as the rifle ranges were commodious, but at many other camps I should have been unable to do so, owing to there being too few targets, and thus proving the necessity for good arrangements for rifle practice at all the camping grounds.

It must be remembered that now-a-days a soldier who is able to hit anything standing or moving at a fair distance is up to 500 yards is worth at least a dozen of the ordinary soldier. Therefore no efforts should be spared to make men good reliable shots up to 500 yards. Most of the real fighting is done at short, not long ranges.

DRILL SHEDS.

I would recommend that more attention be paid to the maintenance of the existing drill sheds and to the erection of the new ones now necessary. The present drill shed at Toronto is a most up to date, and the great need and progress of the regiments in that city certainly deserve the encouragement they would derive from a good and appropriate drill shed. The drill shed at Peterborough is quite unfit for use, and a new one should be built. The Hamilton shed was unfortunately burnt down, and a new one, I believe, is to be erected.

EQUIPMENT.

Under this head he says: "I would again urge the necessity for an issue of reliable equipment and the gradual introduction of brown leather boots, in lieu of the present pig boots. The question of head covering is still unsettled. I would again recommend the general issue of the helmet, with a fatigue cap, such as recommended in my last report."

"A grey light pattern jacket should also be issued, as it is impossible for men to look clean and smart who have to do all sorts of fatigue work in camp in their own uniform coats—the 'tungs'."

He also recommends that the Snider-Enfield rifle be called in and Martini Henry carbines issued in their place. This recommendation applies to the city regiments.

Under general remarks, he says: "After one year's experience I beg leave again to urge the absolute necessity of reducing the strength of the Force. It stands now on paper (including the Schools of Instruction), as consisting of 27,340. The reality is, however, a very different strength, as I fear the same men perform more than one regiment, but still this is a much greater number of men than can be properly or usefully trained, considering the money voted for that purpose. Moreover, I am given to understand that some officers commanding rural corps and batteries are in the habit of making up their numbers by enlisting men just for the camp work."

"As I have said before, for the force to be at all efficient, every soldier should be called out at least for sixteen days every year of his service. By this means a stream of fairly trained men would be poured out over the country, who could, in case of emergency, be re-enrolled and take, with very little difficulty, their places in the ranks. Now, the only means of doing this would be by a reduction of the number, a reduction which, I am sure, be made without difficulty, if not done legally. Moreover it will certainly be necessary to crop regiments in the North-West, an additional reason why a reduction should take place, unless more money is granted for the Department."

He also recommends, to get the best results from these drills, that paid adjutants be secured.

DOMESTIC ECONOMY.

As a matter of economy it will pay every soldier to be equipped with a good pair of boots and a good pair of shoes, and to have them repaired and replaced when they are worn out, rather than to have them replaced by new ones, which is a great waste of money.

T. Avoid Baldness or Grey Hair.

Use Dr. Doremus's Great German Hair Magic. It keeps the scalp clean and free from dandruff and promotes the growth of the hair. It prevents premature greyness and keeps any fall-out of the hair in its place. It will invigorate them and force a new growth of hair. For sale by all druggists in Belleville and all parts of Canada.

Do not waste your time and money by using cheap blacking. Ask your grocer for Japan blacking.

Stocking the Northern Water.

It was Wilkins and Wilmut Make a Big "Plant."

Messrs. Wilkins and Wilmut returned last evening from the North Riding of England, after a four days trip thence to try in that section. They report that the black fish and mussels are even more numerous than on any previous trip, and that the water is now so clear that they can be seen from the shore. The following are the sheets of water where fish were planted, and the quantity placed there:

Each Lake, Lincolnton, 10,000
 Humphrey's Lake, 10,000
 Livingston, 20,000
 L'Anse-au-Loup, 20,000
 Bouchette, 20,000
 Bartlett's, 20,000

Riddell's Creek, Riddell's farm, Mont., 5,000

Total, 100,000

The letters which have been given to the above named gentlemen, and to which they have kindly allowed us to see, prove that their efforts in stocking the northern waters have shown beneficial results.

Mr. Archie Riddell, the manager of the Bronson farm, also states that several sections have seen the fish in the lake which was stocked last spring. He intends taking them for the purpose of proving to the fisheries department that the fish are there, and that Mr. Wilmut specimens. If this is carried out, it will be a conclusive proof that fish can be carried almost any distance, as all who know the roads in the back townships of North Hastings are aware that they are almost impossible. Until Mr. Riddell's lake was stocked last season from the Newcastle fish hatchery, fish of any description had never been seen in it.

JAS. W. DUNNET.

Belleville, June 23, 1887.

Prof. Crocker's Exhibit.

The most says: "Last night the animals exhibited by Prof. Crocker selected handkerchiefs of red, white, or blue, as alternately directed by the professor. They jumped over hurdles, marched backward and forward, laid down, rolled over, ran a barrel up an inclined plane, played at chess, turned round on a plank about two feet high, walked on tightropes, kicked with right or left leg as requested, and all at the word of command without direction from a whip. The military drill was, perhaps, the most interesting feature of the performance. Twelve horses marched in pairs, formed fours, wheeled to right or left, dressed in line as if on parade, and performed many intricate maneuvers. The applause which followed these several tests was warm, general and certainly deserved. The performance closed with the bombardment scene, which was very effective."

Opera House, three openings and a matinee, commencing on Monday night.

REDEMPTION POINTS.

Naal Baid did not irritate or cause trouble, but was a very good specimen of a horse, and was not a bad one at all. It was a very good specimen of a horse, and was not a bad one at all.

Petersburg, June 22.—Twenty six horses boarded 2,001 boxes.

The board sold for $10.

Macon, June 22.—Nine hundred boxes sold at $6 to $8 for white, $5 for colored.

At the Belleville Cheese Board today, 3014 boxes were offered from 36 factories, 87-10c was the highest bid for selection, and 8-10c, the highest for the Board.

Another Warning.

The Corporation have been three times warned that the lower bridge needs replanking, yet nothing has been done.

Sworn In.

Wm. Morton, the pilot man of "A" Company of the Midlanders, was sworn in as a policeman yesterday by Mayor Biggar.

Questionable Economy.

The rules that have been passed on Front street by the setting of the pavement are being filled up with broken stones. It was better to remove the stones and put the filling under the pavement. The work would cost more, but would last longer and preserve the respectable appearance of the principal thoroughfare of the city.

St. Michael's Church.

The walls of St. Michael's church are gradually growing. They now afford an idea of the architectural beauty that will belong to the building when completed.

Ant-Tick in Time.

When first attacked with a cold in the head, drop a few drops of the ant-tick in the water, and you will find it very effective.

Killed on the Rail.

A mare and colt, the property of Mr. Aaron Latta, of Plainfield, was killed by a train last evening. The colt was killed instantly, but the mare was dragged on the track and cut to pieces.

A TRAVELLER IN TROUBLE.

Gordon, Mary & Co.'s Agent Arrested for Larceny.

What kind is the warrant being issued?

At an early hour this morning, 5:30 o'clock, Geo. A. London was arrested by Officer Hughes on a warrant charging him with larceny. The prisoner has been committed to the House of Correction, and on Saturday last had charge of the company's business, receiving money and paying bills under order of attorney, issued by Mr. Gordon. Goods were missed from the store, a quantity of cigars and a case of other stuff, by Mr. Donald Bell, clerk for the firm. He secured a search warrant, and with Officer Hayes searched the prisoner's house but found nothing. This was yesterday afternoon. In the evening the chief was informed that the goods had been taken from London's house about 10 minutes before his visit and left at Jas. Wallace's confectionery store, Front street. Mr. Wallace said the goods were there and that he understood that they were Mr. London's. The officer worked all night, and when he had completed his chain of evidence, awakened Acting Magistrate Anderson, got a warrant for the goods, and the case was in court to-day, but was adjourned until Monday. The prisoner was released on bail, $200 by himself and $200 by Mr. James Mackin.

JACK

IN THE ACTION OF THE "GREAT AUNT."

At this moment, Mother Mary's "purring voice rang out above the hoarse chorus of the fishermen, whose weather grating and concurrent voices were raised in a hoarse helter-skelter, as if they had been the contents of one hoplite's man.

"Oh, my God!" cried Jack.

It was the next day that someone told

Mother Mary, at the poor boarding-house

A Champion of It-d Hair.

Red hair, I believe, is a characteristic mark of the German race.

With this, at least, it is a natural type, although, of course, a somewhat unusual one.

It occurs among the Latin and the Celtic races, among the people of pure Germanic blood, among the Scandinavians, the Scandinavians, and the Slavonic population of the north.

Wherever the population was left pretty much to themselves, writes Mr. John Fiske, "as in North Germany, Central Asia, and Scandinavia, it should find the auburn hair and blue eyes of the old Aryan still in the ascendant."

Another fact that shows its ethnic appreciation of the higher and purer type is the fact that it is the universal custom of the nobles to dye their hair red with an unaltered hue.

The color of the hair of the nobles of this matter has come originally close to that of the aristocrats of our own race.

Auburn hair has been the favorite of artists. Examine the pictures of the great colorists of the Venetian school, if you want abundant and striking examples of this.

And not only has auburn hair been a favorite with artists, but it has also been peculiarly the hair which goes with the artistic temperament itself. Hundreds of names to whom the truth of this statement can only be brought together, it will suffice to mention a few selected at random.

Shakespeare—the ancient bard of Stratford—his grave at Stratford is painted with his hair as auburn hair and beard. The bust has long been considered the most authentic likeness of the poet.

Milton is described by Professor Masson as having "light auburn hair."

Schiller was "pale with auburn hair."

George Eliot had "rich auburn hair."

Of Keats it is said, "His eyes were large and blue, his hair auburn."

Heine had "long chestnut hair and was not of Jewish aspect."

Carlyle had "thick reddish hair."

Dr. Johnson's hair was "chestnut red."

Cervantes had "aquiline features and chestnut hair."

Alfred was "tall, thin, palid, with red hair," says Rossetti, and Rossetti himself was "auburn tinted."

Mr. Henry Russell, I am told, "was tinged with auburn."

The poet Swinburn has auburn hair.

Two American Presidents, Thomas Jefferson and President Tyler, had auburn hair.

People with auburn hair, it is seen, walk with a distinguished countenance. Moreover, it is hardly to be mistaken as a mere accident of color.

The explanation of this is that auburn hair and the color that goes with it are almost always the sign of the possession of more than the average stock of vitality.

The auburn haired person, it is true, is not usually of strong physique than his neighbor, but his vitality is more intense, is more available, less wasted in mere friction and in overworking resistance, so to say; is less wasted in the mere mechanical and animal operations of the body.

The sensibilities of auburn haired people, it is frequently observed, are keener and more delicate, their moral and aesthetic emotions are more quickly touched, the play of their faculties is more rapid than those of other people.

Often, it must be confessed, this quality is carried to excess and the character becomes morbid and over-sensitive. This fact undoubtedly explains much of the popular feeling towards red haired people. They are touchy and irritable, and it is often hard to comprehend their actions.

For they are of the race of the poets and artists, and, as I have shown, above aristocrats by birth, nature's aristocrats. In her novel, "Friends," a Duke Elizabeth Stuart Phelps has very ably exposed the secret of this temperament.

"Nobility," she writes, "I knew that I had auburn hair and eyes to match it, and that he might any day make an outrageous blunder. He had learned to analyze temperament, which is either a man's first friend or deadliest foe."

That is the secret of it. The auburn haired temperament is given to extremes. It seldom follows the beaten path.

BURDOCK'S BLOOD

Pain Intelligence.

A Champion of It-d Hair.

Red hair, I believe, is a characteristic mark of the German race.

With this, at least, it is a natural type, although, of course, a somewhat unusual one.

It occurs among the Latin and the Celtic races, among the people of pure Germanic blood, among the Scandinavians, the Scandinavians, and the Slavonic population of the north.

Wherever the population was left pretty much to themselves, writes Mr. John Fiske, "as in North Germany, Central Asia, and Scandinavia, it should find the auburn hair and blue eyes of the old Aryan still in the ascendant."

Another fact that shows its ethnic appreciation of the higher and purer type is the fact that it is the universal custom of the nobles to dye their hair red with an unaltered hue.

The color of the hair of the nobles of this matter has come originally close to that of the aristocrats of our own race.

Auburn hair has been the favorite of artists. Examine the pictures of the great colorists of the Venetian school, if you want abundant and striking examples of this.

And not only has auburn hair been a favorite with artists, but it has also been peculiarly the hair which goes with the artistic temperament itself. Hundreds of names to whom the truth of this statement can only be brought together, it will suffice to mention a few selected at random.

Shakespeare—the ancient bard of Stratford—his grave at Stratford is painted with his hair as auburn hair and beard. The bust has long been considered the most authentic likeness of the poet.

Milton is described by Professor Masson as having "light auburn hair."

Schiller was "pale with auburn hair."

George Eliot had "rich auburn hair."

Of Keats it is said, "His eyes were large and blue, his hair auburn."

Heine had "long chestnut hair and was not of Jewish aspect."

Carlyle had "thick reddish hair."

Dr. Johnson's hair was "chestnut red."

Cervantes had "aquiline features and chestnut hair."

Alfred was "tall, thin, palid, with red hair," says Rossetti, and Rossetti himself was "auburn tinted."

Mr. Henry Russell, I am told, "was tinged with auburn."

The poet Swinburn has auburn hair.

Two American Presidents, Thomas Jefferson and President Tyler, had auburn hair.

People with auburn hair, it is seen, walk with a distinguished countenance. Moreover, it is hardly to be mistaken as a mere accident of color.

The explanation of this is that auburn hair and the color that goes with it are almost always the sign of the possession of more than the average stock of vitality.

The auburn haired person, it is true, is not usually of strong physique than his neighbor, but his vitality is more intense, is more available, less wasted in mere friction and in overworking resistance, so to say; is less wasted in the mere mechanical and animal operations of the body.

The sensibilities of auburn haired people, it is frequently observed, are keener and more delicate, their moral and aesthetic emotions are more quickly touched, the play of their faculties is more rapid than those of other people.

There was a large jam of logs at the railway bridge last night, which was examined with people, old and young, male and female, gathering bark from the logs and picking up loose sticks. More Developments.

Donald Bedden, of Gordon, Morry & Co., has been arrested on a warrant issued by the Court of Sessions.

Fresh interest is being daily added to the Gordon swindle. It will be a week to-morrow since the flight of Theodore Gordon was known. Since then two arrests have followed. First was Geo. A. Lamb, who was arrested on a warrant charged with dismembered intentions in selling a dealer a quantity of cigars. He was released on bail and this morning secured a warrant against Donald Bedden, clerk for Gordon, Morry & Co., charging him with dishonesty in supplying Mr. John Gordon with certain cases of boots on Saturday last. The warrant was placed in the hands of an officer, who met Bedden on Front Street and placed him under arrest. This happened about 11 a. m. to-day. As the officer and his prisoner passed down street, the people were not slow to take in the situation. Since the flight of Gordon, developments of this nature cause little surprise. The officer took his prisoner to his lawyer's office, Mr. S. O'Hara, who accompanied him to the police court. Mr. L. O'Brien was sent for, and agreed to go surety for Bedden's bail. This was fixed at $200. Bedden gave bonds for $200, and Mr. O'Brien bonds for $100.

Mr. Lamb was sent for the warrant. He states that the cigars that he sent to Mr. Wallace were invoiced before they left the store, and that the Sheriff has the invoice. Mr. Grant was seen yesterday by his purchaser of the shoes on Saturday the same as he had purchased other lots, and that Mr. Lamb knew of the sale at the time, and notified him (Grant) that the money was payable to him, Lamb.

The trial is set down for Monday. It is now pretty well known that the liabilities of the firm will foot up to a total well in the neighborhood of $25,000, and that the stock will in value at least that $25,000. The claims of the employees of the company will constitute a good share of the assets, so that the prospect for the creditors is not very encouraging. If they get anything it will be a very small amount.

Mr. Morry, who was Gordon's partner, is rated at $7,000 in mercantile notes.

Zoo.

Mr. Geo. H. Adams, with the original Zoo company will give the Open House to-night an entertainment and spectacular display, such as is seldom seen in this city. Two years since the same company visited here, when the performance gave universal satisfaction. The play will be placed on the board to-night in the highest style of dramatic and scenic art. Miss Baird, well known for her clever acting, takes the part of the Queen, and Miss Hamilton, who was with the Alleghenians and again with the Z. Co. Company two years since, takes a leading part.

The company carry with them a calcium light which is used in the first and third acts. The transformation scene in the third act is particularly fine, when Mr. Adams and Miss Hamilton are transformed by the Queen's magic wand into school children.

MIRACULOUS.

"My MIRACULOUS CURE was that I had suffered from kidney disease for about two years, and was off work all that time. A friend told me of B. B. B. I tried it, and an hour later I was cured by two bottles." Was T. St. Mary.

Cultured from Exchanges.

A bear and cub were recently seen near the village of Campbellford. A barn belonging to James Sullivan, Seymour East, was burned recently by a reaper, mower, hay rake, threshing machine and two sleighs were also consumed. The barn and contents were insured for $500.

The oldest house in the township of Madoc was torn down on Wednesday by Messrs. McCoy, Jones and Fred. Davis, on Mr. Davis' farm. The house was erected in 1834, and the timbers were precisely sound.

Scott Act in Peterborough.

The Scott Act supporters in the town of Peterborough evidently have difficulty in enforcing the Act, as the following letter to the Council of that town most indicates: From Henry Root, in regard to the Acting Chief of Police, charging (1) that since May 21 he had placed in the Acting Chief's hands 28 informations of violations of the Scott Act and in 19 of these cases he had charged for first offence when they had been previously convicted, by which the town lost $950; (2) that the Acting Chief had information in his hands from May 28th that had not been acted upon; (3) that warrants had remained unexecuted; and (4) that drunken men frequently appeared on the streets, especially on Sunday, without being arrested.

Vanastock, the Confidence Man.

It seems that this man is a consummate villain. He had along with him two women and a child, and represented that the husband of one of the women was behind with a carload of goods. The reason of his coming along with the women was said to be that a child had died in St. Paul, through exposure in the box car. They had with them the clothes of the asserted dead boy, his photograph and coffin plate, which they tearfully exhibited.

He robbed several other citizens besides Rev. Messrs. Burke and Browning, and is evidently no common rogue. It is a pity that the police cannot catch him. He sent one woman, called on one by Tuesday morning's train, and himself and the other woman took the next day's train at Stanhopeville.

CHOLERA INFANTUM.

Two terrible accounts among children may be given by Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. All forms of cholera, cholera infantum, cholera morbus, and cholera dysenteriae, to the most severe attack of cholera infantum, are cured by this medicine. It is the only remedy for children of adults suffering from cholera.

The Stone Foundry.

A friendly liquidation designed upon by the Stone Foundry and Granite Works.

The stock holders of the Harts & South stone foundry met yesterday and have initiated measures to wind up the affairs of the company. Mr. J. L. Higgs was appointed liquidator. Mr. Wm. Hamilton, of the Merchant Bank, Mr. F. Scott, and Mr. Patterson, of Patterson Bros. Hamilton, were appointed inspectors. These gentlemen will counsel with and aid Mr. Higgs in the discharge of his duties. The creditors have agreed upon a friendly liquidation and given the liquidator every chance to make the most of the property. For the present the foundry is shut down. It was understood, from a conversation with a director to-day, that an effort will be made to find a purchaser for the property and plant; some person or company with means to operate it successfully.

Promenade Concert.

The promenade concert at the City Hall last evening, given by the ladies of the W. C. A., was a success in the measure of the enjoyment it afforded, and the receipts $1,010.40. The property financially. The L. O. F. band were released from military duty by the Mayor and given a gratuity amount. A violin duo by Miss Mabel Fittler and Miss Amy Denmark, with a piano accompaniment by Mrs. Campbell was highly enjoyed. Miss Dixon gave an acceptable piano solo and Mrs. Campbell and Miss Mabel Corbett a piano forte duo. The views of Mr. R. Douglas of the Institute through the Magic Lantern were highly enjoyed. Refreshments and fancy articles were offered and realized a handsome sum. The hall was handsomely decorated. Conspicuous in the line was a motto opposite the door, "God Save the Queen."

Happy Thought.

Have you thought how effectually the ladies have provided against every contingency for the Bell Excursion? It might rain; lots of room laid out for 800 people. It might be bright; the boat has just got new awning. I don't like these little boats; this excursion is far commodious, elegant and safe. Mr. Alexander. There will be such a crowd you will have to stand up. Captain Smith promises more seats than ever before.

I would like to go, but I have not got my basket ready. You don't require any. You can buy all you want from the ladies at popular prices. I cannot get away in the afternoon, then go at 8 p. m. I cannot bring the children and keep them till 10:30, then go at four and you can get off at 8 p. m.

Base Ball.

The Bellevilles had a business meeting at the Belmont last night. The finances were found in a satisfactory condition. This was the first news announced, and put the members in good heart for the business that was to follow.

Mr. Jas. Jenkins was appointed manager, and Messrs. W. H. Biggar, J. Jenkins, H. Youmans, John Fleming, and J. Jones a committee to arrange matches. The Club is to be divided into two teams, the first and second nines, in order to get the most good out of practice. Efforts are being made to have a good club over on Dominion day.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY. P. P. Tanner of Neenah, Ont., says he has not only found B. B. B. to cure croup or dysentery, but he also found it to be the best medicine for treating and curing cholera when he has ever taken. B. B. B. is the great system regulator.

Sparting Notes.

In the games at Hamilton on Wednesday Wm. Boyd, of Woodstock, made a record of 94.3m. at 100 yds. and 100 yds. at 100 yds.

The Torontoes were beaten at Syracuse yesterday 10 to 9 and the Hamiltons won at Scranton 7 to 0.

The racing at Montreal yesterday resulted as follows: Trial purse, three quarters a mile, Sir George, Augusta, Bob Lockwood; time 1m. 10 1/2. Queen's Plate, 1 1/2 miles—Albani, Cigarette, St. Peter; time 3m. 12 1/4. Jubilee Purse, mile heats—Percy, Minnie Motor, Ferlie; time 0. 00. 1.50. Dickie H. got a good deal of the worst of the start, which otherwise was pretty fair. At the first turn Tantum was leading, but the pace was too hot for the sharp turn at the first corner, and the track being bad his jockey was thrown.

Wise as Fells, and before he could clear him the gulping stumbled and Wise went down on the turf to keep company with Morton. The colored jockey was badly hurt by Wild Rose striking his chest. Wise also received a cut on the head from the hoof of the same horse. After the accident Percy showed the way and kept the lead to the judges' stand. Fells, without a rider, made good running, and at the finish was only a short head behind the winner. Minnie Motor came in a couple of lengths behind. In the second heat all were declared disabled but Percy, Minnie Motor and Ferlie. Hurdle race, 1 1/2 miles—Beckmore, King Tom, Little James. In the Eastern York Club's meeting, called off at Marlborough yesterday, the Mayflower easily defeated the Galates.

At Toronto yesterday, Fred Root was sixth in a 25 yard hurdle (Pecora black) 18 1/2 yds. First and second were 21 and Root was one of four who scored 22.

A cable despatch says:—"The monotony of the Jubilee preparations, to which the newspapers are almost entirely given up, is relieved by the report of a prize fight between two women, which took place at Abbey, in Sussex, on Sunday. The contestants were Mrs. Christina and Ellen Stinson, and the battle appeared to have been fought with greater vigor and determination on the part of the latter than on the part of the former. The latter was the victor by a majority of 11 rounds, which Ellen fled in the ring from injuries inflicted by her adversary, and her body was in danger by the corner, while the victor was put in goal."
